MISS BRUNS INJURED HER HORSE RUNS AWAY AND UPSSETS CARRIAGE

Lieutenant Leslie Receives Injury in Stopping the Runaway --- the Horse Disjoins a Leg.

Miss Mabel Bruns daughter of Mrs. Arthur Coyne and bookkeeper of Coyne's furniture store, was thrown from her carriage in a certain street yesterday afternoon and severely hurt. She was driving a spirited horse, and the animal became frightened by the passing of an omnibus filled with boys, who were blowing horns. The horse started at a galloping pace but kept to the road until past Alapai street, when the buggy struck the curb and overturned, Miss Bruns being thrown out. She received some cuts about the head and face, and was slightly injured in the side. Happily, no bones were broken and Miss Bruns was able to walk when picked up. She was taken into a friend's carriage and conveyed to her home in Magazine street.

Lieutenant Leslie of the mounted patrol had pursued the runaway and managed to get hold of the reins. He called out to Miss Bruns to let go the lines, as he had control of the horse. She evidently did not hear what the patrolman was saying. And the horse was pulled in against the curb, striking a telephone pole with such violence as to break it off eight feet from the top.

Lieutenant Leslie's hand was caught between the horse and the pole and severely bruised. The horse had a leg put out of joint but not broken and is under Veterinarian Shaw's treatment.

NEILL'S EARLY EXPERIENCE

James Neill tells a good story of one of his earliest experiences in the theatrical profession.

"It was my first season the stage, the manager and a member of a repertoire company, and we happened along to the town in question and asked for terms. The arrangements were entirely satisfactory and the company was billed to appear the next night. The manager said in great glee, 'We go for a big house, sure,' he told me. 'There hasn't been no good shows down here for the longest time, and then it's buyin' day and there'll be a passel of folks in town.'"

The manager of the opera house in this little town, by the way, was an admirer of art to such an extent that he would make any sacrifice to indulge his fondness. The opening night arrived and the demand for tickets opened very brisk. I played a small part, appearing in the first act, and being killed by the villain, went back on the stage to don my make-up for my short appearance, in great glee. The musicians drummed out the usual overture and the curtain went up.

When I came on the stage I was almost struck dumb to note the slimness of the house. There were not more than one hundred people in sight, and there had been promise of a crowd. As soon as I got through with the first act I washed and rushed around front. In the lobby of the theater was a crowd of perhaps 200 people apparently waiting to get in the theater. Letting myself in through the box office I went in search of the manager. I found him seated in the center aisle and hugely enjoying the second act of the play.

"What is the matter with you?" I asked, in anything but a gentle tone; "why, there are 200 people out there trying to get in!"

"Oh, that's all right," replied the manager. "They can't get in; I locked the door."

NEW YORK COLLECTOR

Washington, Nov. 16.—State Senator Stranahan of Oswego, N. Y., after his call upon the President today, made a statement which in part says:

"President Roosevelt today tendered me the office of Collector of New York with the understanding that I shall assume its duties April 1 next. Such an arrangement would permit me to do my winter's work at Albany. The office of Collector comes to me absolutely unsolicited and I may say with the cordial concurrence of the President and Senator Platt. No suggestion as to my policy in the office has been made to me, or conditions coupled with the appointment, except that I give the best possible administration in my power, in the belief that in faithful public service is to be found the greatest advantage to one's party."

During the afternoon Mr. Stranahan called upon the members of the Civil Service Commission and had an extended interview with them. While no details are given out, the members of the commission expressed themselves after the conference as being of the opinion that the civil service law would be enforced strongly in the office of the Collector of Customs of New York, in which Mr. Stranahan takes his position as the head.

LAWYER WAS DISBARRED.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Secretary Hitchcock has disbarred William C. Budros, an attorney of Sturgis, S. D., from practicing before the Interior Department because of criticisms alleged to have been made by the latter on the late President McKinley. Budros said, when he learned of the shooting of the President:

"I am glad of it, and I hope he will die, as there will be one tyrant less. The lawyer offered explanations, but Mr. Hitchcock declared them unsatisfactory."

TURBULENT FOOTBALL CUNHA AND CARTER COME TOGETHER ON GRIDIRON

Punahou Club Scores a Victory Over Honolulu—Score Was 29 to 6 --- Several Exciting Events.

The football game on the campus at Oahu College yesterday afternoon, while not up to the mark in the matter of play, was brimful of exciting events that certainly made the two thousand or more spectators feel that they had received their money's worth. The Punahou won from the Honolulu Athletic Club by the score of 29 to 6. The Honolulu scored one touchdown in the first half, Gleason crossing the line after a run of ninety yards, well guarded by Blaisdell, full back. This was the best play of the day and the people went wild with enthusiasm. After this, the Honolulu boys did not again see Punahou's goal.

While on Wednesday night, the Punahou boys were the favorites among the betting fraternity, on Thursday, this changed a little and the Honolulu were favorites in a great many localities. The natives backed the Honolulu boys unqualifiedly but the wearers of the white and red showed that it is not always weight that wins. They were slow and in the second half, played out perceptibly, while the Punahou had only begun to get their wind. Then, too, they were handicapped by the loss of two good men.

The game started promptly at 3:30 o'clock with George R. Carter as umpire and Charles S. Elston as referee. F. M. Brooks was the timekeeper and H. P. Roth and R. King were the line-men. The Punahou team had the Ewa goal and the Honolulu the Waikiki one. Soper kicked off and the ball went out of bounds. It was brought back and there was another kick-off. This time Blaisdell brought it back to the 25-yard line. Shortly after this, Morse secured a touchdown for the Punahou but the Honolulu protested vigorously on the ground that the umpire had raised his stick for play to begin but had failed to blow his whistle on account of an off-side play on the part of the Honolulu. The umpire allowed the touchdown and the Honolulu continued the game under protest. After the touchdown, Morse kicked goal.

It was not long before Vida was put off the field for a foul play. He protested vigorously but the umpire was firm and Vida got out. His place was taken by Murray. Blaisdell planted the ball on the 40-yard line and Kimball fell on his head. The crowd began to clamor for the removal of Kimball but the umpire would not take any action. Play was continued. A few minutes more and Cunha was put off the field by the umpire for slugging. His place was taken by Ellis but the team was very much weakened and it looked like a walk over for the Punahou boys which indeed it proved to be.

After the Punahou boys had secured the ball on downs, Gleason, breaking through the center of the opposing team, took the ball and made the famous run of the day which gave the Honolulu the only touchdown they were destined to get. Blaisdell kicked goal and the score was tied. Shortly after this, the whistle for the end of the first half was blown and the teams retired from the field.

In the second half, the Honolulu made no changes but J. Marcellino took the place of Downing on the Punahou team. Blaisdell made a poor kick-off and Kimball brought the ball back to the 36-yard line. The Honolulu, after a few minutes play, substituted Aylett for Murray and John Wise for Isaac Cockett. Marcellino made a touchdown for the Punahou and Soper kicked goal.

Ellis kicked off for the Honolulu and Blaisdell returned with a low kick which was again returned by Williamson. Honolulu kept losing ground on off-side plays. The Honolulu got the ball on a fumble and Cockett carried it ten yards. At this point, there was trouble of some kind in the center of the field and Cunha, advancing from the line, spoke in a loud tone to the umpire. Carter refused to listen to Cunha, telling him to get off the field or he would quit his job as umpire. Cunha had been ruled out of the game and had no right to interfere. Carter called to Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth to remove the objectionable party and this officer, advancing with Lieut. Leslie of the Mounted Patrol, escorted Cunha from the field.

The Punahou boys got the ball on downs and soon had it at the 28-yard line of the Honolulu team. At this point, Cunha again came out from the lines and the umpire's whistle blew for the game to stop. Carter cried out to Cunha to get off the field and outside of the lines and then, seeing that he would not obey, started over towards him. He grasped the big man by the arm and forced him to the ropes. The crowd gathered around quickly and it is said that in the mix-up, Cunha struck Carter. Chris Holt stepped into the field and said he wanted fair play. Holt was ready to fight but he was escorted away. The police then cleared the field.

When this exciting incident was over, Marcellino took the ball. The Punahou were given ground on an off-side play by the Honolulu. Blaisdell was hurt and carried off the field. Marcellino made a touchdown and Soper kicked goal. Punahou 18 and Honolulu, 6.

W. Jarrett took Blaisdell's place.

Play continued and another off-side play was decided against the Honolulu. Tony Marcellino took his brother's place, made several small gains and secured a touchdown. Soper kicked goal again.

The game was drawing to a close and the Punahou boys saw the necessity for quick work if they were to secure another touchdown. Long kicked off for the Honolulu and the ball was secured by Waterhouse who planted it on the 50-yard line. Morse made a touchdown but Soper failed to kick goal. The ball was taken back to the center of the field and the Honolulu kicked off. Shortly after this, the whistle blew and the exciting game was over.

Had it not been for the police on the grounds yesterday afternoon, someone might have got hurt as the excitement was at a very high pitch and it would not have taken much for a regular rough-and-tumble. The sympathies of the natives were with Cunha and when he went on the field to talk to the umpire, the cries from the crowd were not all against him. Those who supported his action, felt that Carter had been partial in his decisions and that he had given the Honolulu the worst of the deal.

Tomorrow afternoon, the Artillery and Maile-Ilima teams will play and on the following Saturday, the game between the Honolulu and Artillery teams will end the season's struggles.

FOOTBALL SCORES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—The star-warta Gophers, the fame of whose Titanic mass plays made them 2-to-1 favorites in the betting, went down before the brilliant Badgers on Randall Field today, and now Michigan alone may dispute Wisconsin's supremacy in Western football. The score was: Wisconsin, 18; Michigan, 0.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven defeated the Carlisle Indians this afternoon by a score of 16 to 14, one of the most exciting games witnessed on Franklin field this fall.

Cambridge, Nov. 16.—Harvard defeated Dartmouth, 27 to 12, this afternoon with a team composed of substitutes and without Captain Campbell.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16.—The University of Michigan defeated the University of Chicago on Regents' field this afternoon by the score of 22 to 0.

New York, Nov. 16.—Cornell, 24; Columbia, 0. These figures tell the downfall of Columbia football team this afternoon on the Polo grounds, where the Morningside Heights boys were outgeneraled and outplayed by the sturdy representatives of Cornell. Columbia put its very best team into the field for today's game, with one exception, Harold Weekes, who was disabled by an injured knee. But it was not strong enough to stand up against the splendid team-work of the Cornell eleven.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The women of the French capital have initiated a movement which is expected to influence future elections. Their watchword is "Defense of property, the fatherland and liberty," and they propose to support by influence and money candidates who will uphold their platform. An influential committee has been formed under the leadership of the wife of Admiral de Cuverville, and recruiting is actively proceeding. The women distinctly disclaim any championship of feminism or that they are seeking to obtain "impossible liberties or ridiculous equalities."

They will devote special attention to the men of the better class who do not take the trouble to vote, and contemplate excluding from their drawing rooms all who are unable to prove that they have exercised the right of franchise.

A proclamation of the league which is now being circulated rejects socialism and paternalism, demands recognition of the rights of French mothers to choose the teachers of their children, and winds up with a reference to recent legislation as follows: "We desire that all consciences may be free on French soil. Functionaries and priests, monks and nuns also have consciences, and we demand liberty for them."
